Obtain up to date reports from well researched experts to include in your summary. This step covers statistics, regional background data, suburb rankings and profiles.

If you wish to conduct a search for say Residential Property statistics and property growth summaries by suburb etc. we can supply this data from our research.

This includes the combined returns for both capital growth and rental returns.

This can be somewhat surprising with residential property particularly and may cause you to look at areas/suburbs you may otherwise overlook on first impressions.
